Session introduction by Kona

Kona Lisa: Good morning. I'm Kona Mahu with the Center for Planetary Management. We are excited today as we pursue a new topic for our brand-new magazine. We have with us today, Daniel Raphael, who will be transmitting Machiventa, or any of the other celestials that work on the planetary management team as they come forward. We have Jacques in France, Bob in Texas, and Sherille and Daniel Raphael in Colorado. We are excited to have them both with us today. We are moving into our meditation that Jacques will lead. This gives us the opportunity to clear our minds and our hearts and spirits to connect with each other and to connect with the celestial teams. We invite you to take this time with us as you prepare for this message as well. Jacques, take it away.

Centering moment as a Team by Jacques

Jacques: Thank you, Kona. Bonjour the Team, I am pleased to meet Daniel and Sherille with us today. It's a Friday, and we are waiting to receive a message from Machiventa and the Celestial Planetary Management Team. So, my Friends, before we receive a message, just relax, relax all your muscles. Remove all interferences around you. Take some deep breaths.

Now we connect with the universe, we receive this beam of light, the "Golden Cord", to our crown chakra, down through our chakras to the core of the earth. We are connected with the big universe. This beam of light is a healing light, protecting light, loving light.

We also connect with your Thought Adjuster, as well as our Guardian Angels close to us. And as human, we connect our Heart Line clockwise around the globe, collecting those who are missing today, because they are all connected with us in this task. We connect our Mindal Line counter-clockwise around the globe, so as humans we are encircled to receive guidance.

Now we ask the Planetary Management Team from above to join us, Machiventa Melchizedek, and any celestial who to join. We invite our Midwayer Friends, very busy at this time, and our friends from far away, those on the Sea of Glass, and our Stellar Friends always looking at us.

With this, we stay silent for 3 minutes.

Opening Prayer by Bob

Bob: Today, we are thankful that our celestials are with us and that they are helping us with our program. We appreciate all that they have done for us, the many things they help us with. We are really grateful for their assistance in our daily life. Today, we are going to have a transmission from Daniel, probably from Machiventa. We look forward to the guidance and direction that we may receive from this connection. We pray that we may be open to whatever we learn and apply these things in our lives in a way that is useful and productive. Go ahead, Daniel.

Daniel Raphael: Thank you. Good day, my friends. This is Machiventa Melchizedek, your planetary manager. Today, I want to review a bit of history of religions and mysticism and the life of mystics over the last 4,000 years. This era now is remarkable in that it is the first time of any of these developments within churches and without, outside of churches, in belief systems and outside of belief systems, that there is a conscious, cooperative, co-creative union and working relationship between celestial beings of all orders that apply to this planet, under the direction of myself, the Most Highs, and the constellation directors. This is remarkable, don't you think? But you sitting here listening to this, you who are watching this from the archives, are the first individuals who can have actual ongoing functional conversations with spiritual beings of the light, of the management of the universe.

Main Addresses with Machiventa

1. A New Era of Co-Creative Dialogue: Humanity's Renewed Relationship with the Celestial Realm

Machiventa: This is Machiventa, now, you know and I know that mortals have had conversations with Spiritual Entities for many centuries, this is not new. But what is new is that the Management of this Local Universe under Christ Michael, known as Jesus on this planet, has now authorized our approach to you in functional conversational ways. There are many of you who have daily conversations with us seeking direction and guidance for your life and the unfoldment of your life plan. This is where your Thought Adjuster comes in, and many of you also have daily conversations. It is a sure way of assuring yourself that you are on the path to fulfill your life plan. This is not happenstance, but something that has been authorized and created by Christ Michael for this era on your world.

This is a totally new era of celestial-mortal relationship. Now you are going to say, well, Daniel and Machiventa, you remember, don't you, that in the early stages of the population of this planet, there were Midwayers and Celestial Beings who were in conversation with mortals of the realm? And the answer is yes. So, when you realize that, this Correcting Time is an effort by Christ Michael to engage you once again in conversations with us, it is upon your initiation, your request, and your voluntary permission that we enter into conversations with you. There are certain, what you might call gates, that you must pass in order to fulfill this ongoing functional conversation with us. You must be willing to have a conversation with us, you want this, you request that we have a relationship with you, and you give full permission for us to contact you.

As beings who are under the supervision, management, and creation of Christ Michael, "We of the Light" will bring you nothing but news that helps you to advance and grow. Yes, you can be quite sure that some of our directions and guidance will be contrary to your culture, to your separateness, to your competitiveness, and to the values of a materialistic society. That is part of this: giving Spirit, giving Christ Michael, your Thought Adjuster, permission to guide you in ways that bring you peace without competition, without separation, but with union with us and closer union with those who you love and who love you, those who share many things in common with you and also the love of Spirit as you do.

This is part of the relationship and of the work of this team to explore these permissions and to grant access to you under your direction, guidance, and permission. Of course, the question is, when you make those statements to us, you will ask, do you agree with this? And of course, we will say yes. This is the engagement of ourselves with you. We are now bonded together. It is something unique, something you seek out in your friendship with many people who are around you, with you, and within your families. It is important that this relationship begin to be established.

2. Awakening Through Free Choice: The Magazine as a Gateway to Self-Directed Spiritual Growth”

People who come to your magazine may wonder, well, how did all this start, how did this get designed, who designed the overall production of this Correcting Time as applied to the magazine, where can I learn to do these things, and so on. You will find in your magazine that you will have articles that awaken the insights of an individual reader, and then if they have questions, they can go to a related topic to learn more about it and to be in the flow of this information.

You see, the reader must also be aware that we will not impinge upon their self-will decision to control their own lives. We will not do that. This is an empowering position and relationship with your permission. Your decisions are sacrosanct to us and to all the universe, as no one will try to remove that decision. This is your hallowed territory, so to speak. On a universal basis and in eternity, you have the right of self-determination. You can determine what you want for your life and exclude all others, mortal and celestial and divine, if you so choose, to your own detriment and your short-sightedness, so be open to the possibilities of what presents.

3. The Generation Z and the Rise of Self-Determined Societies

When it comes to your younger generation, let us state specifically Gen Z [Generation Z refers to people born roughly between: 1997 to 2012] these individuals are independent. They want to have their right of self-determination in all things, including the mores and culture of the traditional civilization and society of nations of the planet at this time. So, it is now a process to lead that generation into using their “Self-Will skills” to create a social, political, and economic environment around them that contributes to their lives. This generation will be a force to be reckoned with, as they are alienated from tradition and the obligations of your societies, whether those societies are democratic or totalitarian. These children are independent, but they are all of one mind wherever they are in whatever nation they live in.

4. Co-Creative Support: The Magazine as a Living Tool of the Correcting Time

In our relationship with you, this team, we are here to assist you in the production of this magazine, as it will be a wonderful adjunct to the work of the Correcting Time, to the Design Team process, and to Family Learning Centers. We wish you to explore to its utmost. Of course, we are always available for your questions. Remember, no questions, no answers. We have lots of answers for you. Be at peace, my friends. I am now open for questions if you have any.

Group Dialogue & Discussion with Machiventa

5. The focus really of the magazine is upon the saving grace of a functional Spiritual-Mortal relationship

Kona: Thank you so much, Machiventa. Thank you so much, Daniel. Bob, you have a question.

Bob: Machiventa, I do have a question. When we come out with our magazine, is it a good idea to have a part on preparedness? In the first magazine, a part on preparedness and some of my personal experiences with such things?

Kona: Bob, you would be referring to preparedness for calamity?

Machiventa: This is Machiventa. I smile because the greatest calamity that could exist under a death threat situation is that the person would not seek out protection by seeking Divine and Celestial assistance to save themselves. Your precautions in sight and view of the pending calamitous developments on your planet are noteworthy, yet when it comes to the last moments before death or survival, people pray. People always ask for outside assistance, Celestial assistance, that they have no way of fulfilling by themselves, but upon that reality that envelopes the whole planet and is available to each individual. I thank you for your question, but the focus really of the magazine is upon the saving grace of a functional spiritual-mortal relationship.

Bob: That's a major part of my preparedness, fine.

Kona: Thank you so much, Bob, for that question. Thank you, Machiventa, for your response. Jacques, you have a question, please go ahead.

6. From Spiritual Concepts to Daily Connection: Making the Divine Personal in your Life

Jacques: I am pleased to be with you again today Machiventa. As you said, we need to promote women and need to put something in place for this new era. We did some research and tried to put ourselves in the shoes of the Celestial Planetary Management, asking the question: What is the most important today to share for our Magazine? You start to give us with some inputs.

The first one is maybe what is the most important, as you have told in the past, is to teach, to tell the people that “You Are Here and You Have a Plan”. The second aspect is also maybe to speak about the “Fatherhood of God, the Sonship of God, and the Brotherhood of Men and Sisterhood of Women”. These are the two subjects be part of the first article. Can you comment about this proposal?

Machiventa: This is Machiventa. Yes, I am definitely sold on what you are doing. The second point, would you repeat that for me, please?

Jacques: The “Fatherhood of God, the Sonship of God, and the Brotherhood of Men and Sisterhood of Women, because we are all children of God.

Machiventa: Thank you. For your readers, I do not criticize what you have said, nor do I denigrate what you have said, but what does that look like in personal terms? About the Sonship and Fatherhood, Sonship and Daughter-ship of this relationship, what does that look like? How does a person participate in that? They could really literally, if they want to, use their cell phone, turn it on, and address God. It works the same way. Your spiritual cell phone is always available for you. It is something you can use as a metaphor for the in-touch, personal, intimate relationship that you have with your Thought Adjuster and that you can have with the celestial beings.

What we are striving to do with you in this magazine is to put legs on something and wheels under something that you have concepts about. People are looking for answers. Concepts are wonderful things. They are intellectual, but we want you and we will help you become more practical in the application of these concepts which are stated in your second point. This is not a challenge, this is a request, please.

Jacques: Thank you, Machiventa, yes, I understand what you are saying.

Kona: Thank you yes, thank you, Jacques. What I heard Machiventa saying is that the first primary message is to understand that the celestials are there and looking forward to contact with humanity, and for us to open the doors for people to have that connection through their Thought Adjuster, through conversation like we are having today. That would be their greatest desire. Did I understand that correctly, Machiventa?

Machiventa: This is Machiventa. Yes, you did, you understand it quite well, thank you.

7. Kona's presentation of the Magazine "Planetary Pulse" structure-layout (via zoom) to Daniel and Machiventa.

Kona: Thank you so much. I think it is a good time now to look at the pieces of the magazine that we have put together, and then make sure that what we have chosen will actually answer the call to connecting people more greatly to the celestial team, to their Thought Adjusters, to their guardians, would this be a good time to take a look at that? Are you ready for that, Daniel and Machiventa?

Daniel: Yes. I will speak as Daniel until you address Machiventa and present him with something to answer or comment on.

 Presentation of the Magazine

Kona: Thank you. give me one moment. So here we have the beginning. The name of it is "Planetary Pulse". I am looking at an editorial page. Let me go out of that. This is going to be able to be edited monthly depending on our topic. The first article is intended to be from the Planetary Management's point of view, from the planetary managers' point of view, such as Machiventa.

His first message would be about the connection that the celestials want to make with humanity. The graphic can be changed. Then underneath is a discussion of the transcript as well as the international perspectives from the people on our Team, like Jacques in France, Juan in Venezuela, those of us in the US. We also have Marthe in South Africa, Bea in Canada, and Evan in the Philippines. It is taking that message and giving it some international perspective. Then we may either use the video of the transmission, the full video from our session or clips, or Juan may create a video around the topic.

Then we come down here to our featured articles, which take a deeper dive on the month's topic in context with ethics, governance, and strategies as practice. These pieces were taken from our current website for the Center for Planetary Management and may have room for editing. We have Ethics and Praxis as the Living Application of Celestial Teachings and Divine Values in Everyday Life. We would take today's topic and how the celestials want to communicate with us and put that in context of ethics in a practical application. The same thing with governance, as well as strategies. We look at the Correcting Time teachings, the Teaching Mission, the Magisterial Mission, and the Urantia Book with our strategies and pull those into the conversation. Today's conversation is around connecting with celestials personally.

Over time, we are going to have more and more articles and subjects under these three things. Here are some from past sessions over the last two years: Introduction to the Core Values, Decision Making, Introduction to Ethics and Morality, Ideas for Community Problem Solving, and Introduction to Be Human Versus to Be Non-Human. Under governance, we have the Family Learning Centers, the Design Team, Introduction to Third Stage Democracy, and Population Management. Under our strategies, also information about the Design Team and the Family Learning Centers. Then other top categories that we will write about each month around our topic: Transmission Receiving, what it means to be a transmitter receiver and how that is applicable to the process we are exploring, more work on the Design Team method, our Family Learning Centers, the syllabus that we have been tasked with, stillness to reach this place of having equality in connection, and introduction to living sustainably with best practices.

This is what Bob was referring to, but we may have to make some changes there, Bob, as the focus is really more on connecting with celestials in times of crisis. Then of course our team. We invite individuals to actively engage in shared learning with Correcting Time-aligned communities. This will give us the opportunity to connect with other groups that follow the Correcting Time. We also have a section that will be an introduction to how to become a facilitator, inviting people to join this process. Daniel and or Machiventa, we are open for your comments here.

Machiventa: This is Machiventa. I applaud you for your integrated approach to the magazine. This has helped your individual and team thinking in its organization. It appears that you see this as an integral process, that you are creating a holism for people to appreciate, a holism in which individuals who become committed to their relationship with their celestial friends and divine friends can participate more effectively.

I am, and we of the many Planetary Management Team, will be interested in observing your progress in each of the segments that you develop. You have a wonderful team working with “esprit de corps”, camaraderie, and working relationship. It is evident in the productivity and effectiveness of what you have conceived of and set in motion to this time. You will have our assistance in the minutiae of the development of each of these sections. It is helpful when, the facilitator guides the team members to take a few minutes of silence, stillness, no mind chatter going on, where they can receive ideas surreptitiously from their celestial guidance teams. Does this make sense so far?

Kona: Absolutely. Thank you so much for that. Yes, we will take time to be in stillness with each other to develop our ideas, so thank you for that direction.

Machiventa: You are most welcome.

Kona: Any questions for Machiventa regarding the magazine that we have looked at and the pieces right now, or we can take some time to discuss it further with Daniel.

8. Returning to the Core: Rebuilding the Human–Celestial Relationship

Jacques: I have a comment. What was said by Machiventa is very interesting, because yes, it is an integrated approach, a holistic approach. It is what we want. We have many subjects. We know that we will have the support and assistance of our Celestial Friends, so we rely on that. During our last session, we did a brainstorming to find different subjects for our magazine. But at the end, Machiventa, you came and you said to us: Be careful, you are not going on the right direction. Think about it. So yes, we know it works. We rely on this relationship Human-Celestials. Yes, we are very happy to work [co-creatively]. The subject now is connection with Celestial is personal, and it exists. That is the key message we have to work on, if I understand well. Thank you for that.

9. There is “No Separation”: Rediscovering Our Place in an Integrated Universe

Kona: Thank you for that, Jacques. Yes, of all of the topics that we have discussed, and sometimes we go into politics and what is happening in our individual countries, etc., as Jacques said, our last message from Machiventa is, don't get carried away. Make sure that you bring us back into the conversation.

Today we have Machiventa with us doing a review of history and the mystics and their relationship with Celestials as far back as humanity has existed. Here we are at the beginning of a new civilization. We must go back to the basics, right? Re-establish our relationship with Celestials, and this time without the trappings of magic, mythology, and religion, but in this more practical sense of just understanding that they care for us and they are giving us direction. Machiventa, would you have any more comments on that relationship that we can start with in our magazine?

Machiventa: This is Machiventa. Yes, I will have one comment from some material that this one has been reading from contributions to academia.edu regarding “The various universes”, put that in quotes, and the process of consciousness and the appreciation or recognition of other universes. The writer has proposed a far different view than the hierarchical above and below that traditionally has been described of mortals and the celestial realm and so on. Rather, that conceptualization causes separation of thinking, that it is here or there.

The writer of this article that this one read has said, in reality, it is all here. It is more of an expansion of here that includes there. So, there is no separation, as you integrate with spirit, you realize that the eternal universe is here and that you are a part of the eternal universe. There is no separation. The existence of Celestials are those who are able to travel in and out of this invisible barrier, which is not a barrier but a doorway of consciousness, to allow you to become more intimately acquainted with the larger dimensions. That is a pun. The larger dimensions of reality. This may be very esoteric to you, but it helps individuals combine or integrate the realms of spirit, consciousness, and mortality.

10. Empowering the Reader: From Linear Content to Personalized Exploration

Kona: Thank you so much for that, Machiventa. It brings to mind a question that I do have from the work that we are doing in the magazine that we showed you, and what we have also discussed, is the introduction of the Urantia Book, the introduction of the Teaching Mission, the Magisterial Mission, the Correcting Time as part of the topics in the magazine. For Machiventa, we are wondering how relevant it is to bring up each of those, or is it to pull information from the writings from each of those including the Urantia Book, or to stay focused on the here and now with current messages? Could you respond to that, please?

Machiventa: Yes, thank you for your question. Remember, you are addressing the person behind the screen. As they read your magazine articles, they will have a question. Well, what does your answer book say about that? There should be a tab [a link] there where they can click on that and do a search within that tab. The same thing goes for other interests. Rather than having the magazine be a linear series of articles that are related, you would create a stream with tabs [links] that allow the individual to make their own choice of how they want to explore the relatedness of other segments within that article. Leave the choice making to the individual, but provide the resources for them to do it.

Kona Lisa: Thank you so much. That answers that question. Jacques, you have a question.

11. Consciousness: The Universal Thread Connecting All Life

Jacques: It is just a comment, because Machiventa, you said people have to understand that “there is no separation”, everything is integrated, and you use the word “CONSCIOUSNESS”. I think the population at large today is starting to understand what Planetary Consciousness is. They start to understand that “we are all connected”. I think we have to insist on this concept of “consciousness”. I think we will speak about consciousness in this article as well. Did I can clearly understand what you said?

Kona Lisa: Let me rephrase that if that is helpful. Jacques is asking if we will focus on “consciousness” as well within this topic.

Machiventa: One moment. This is Machiventa. Yes, you most definitely will. You see, when we go back to the moment before creation, there was only the “Consciousness of God”. Some people call it “the Presence of God”, “the Being of God”. But it is the Consciousness of God combined with Mind, the Mind of God, to will into action the light that came into being.

So, CONSCIOUSNESS is universe-wide, it is eternal as the Father is eternal. Each individual has their own consciousness, which is enhanced when they become aware that they have a consciousness and that they can be conscious of self. This empowers it.

Within the planet, you have a “Planetary Consciousness”. It is a group identity, so to speak. But you always have access to anywhere in the universe when you wish to travel the stream of consciousness.

This is when you begin to explore, as your scientists are doing, the nuances of this thought and this concept that makes instantaneous transit anywhere in the universe possible. When you enter the internal stream of consciousness, when you become more adept at traveling, you can go anywhere that you have knowledge of and will with the right intent. If you go as a tourist with an open mind and an open intention to do no harm but to observe, then you will practice this in the best ethical means possible.

Yes, consciousness for the magazine is a topic that we would hope that you would entertain and express the connectedness of all people, which originates from the God Source within them and is connected with your Thought Adjuster within, who has a personal relationship with you. Consciousness comes from God and your Thought Adjuster, and you can ride along when you have a good intention. I know, this is Machiventa, I know that this sounds complex, very esoteric, but you are now witnessing the borders of the metaphysical, spiritual realm with that of quantum physics.

Jacques: Thank you, Machiventa. Thank you so much for that explanation.

Machiventa: That was a mouthful.

Kona: That was a great addition to our categories. I just made a note to add consciousness to our categories.

12. Channeling Insight: Bringing Celestial Perspectives into the Magazine

Kona: I do have a question for Daniel considering the information that we have gotten here from Machiventa. Would you like to be contributing to some of these topics, considering the topic that Machiventa has given us, and write for the magazine as well?

Daniel: Yes, I would want to do so as the mouthpiece for Machiventa or for someone else. Is that okay?

Kona: Sure. We can discuss that further. I just wanted to open up that possibility. I do not think that we had discussed it as a team, but it had been on my mind to present the opportunity to see if there was something here. I mean, you have pretty much written about every single one of these subjects already. We will be drawing heavily upon your written material, as well as the transmissions, both your current transmissions, past transmissions, and transmissions from TRs that we are associated with as well.

Daniel: That thought crossed my mind earlier on in our session today. There must be, there should be, could be a means by which, let us say you want to have a segment where Machiventa would address a topic of the month in your magazine and you would address a question pertaining to that topic that you are going to explore in the magazine for that month. Does that make sense?

Jacques: Completely.

Kona: It does. For this month, the topic that he has given us is the relationship. What we do quite often is take the transmission and we will write with the transmission. We introduce the topic and then give verbatim the transmission as part of the article. That would be attributed to Machiventa and the topic that he wants us to explore for the month. If we do this every month and Machiventa brings us a new topic, we would do this on a regular basis once a month, and it would give us the topic for the month to explore and then publish.

Daniel: Just as I am a friend of the team, you have a lot to explore already, for goodness sakes. You want something new? Your list of old things to discuss that have not been explored yet in the magazine is just bunches and bunches.

Kona: We do, which is why we are going with the magazine format. We have so much material that we cannot get it out fast enough in single articles on a weekly basis even. We wanted to give this integrated holistic approach. I think the message that we got from Machiventa last week was, please include us when you bring us to the table when it comes time to choose the topic for the month. I am sure that just like this time, it engages material that we have had before that we can draw on. The actual topic, though, Machiventa wants to have that conversation with us each month so that it is like giving us the stream. Let us start at point A and then go to B. What does that look like, Machiventa? How do you want to engage the audience?

Daniel: Good question. When you do this, send an email address to Machiventa about the topic you want. It is like you are the editor assigning a topic to a writer. There is no question about intention. Your intentions are of the light, and Machiventa understands that. His comments will be to enlighten that topic at that moment in what he sends. How many words, what is the word limit?

Kona Lisa: We have not set a word limit at this point, so that is a great question for the team to figure out what that word limit is going to be.

Daniel: Yes. I think it would be appropriate for the team to choose the topic because you are already in touch with Machiventa within the team and to the others. Rather than addressing Machiventa to pick a topic, you have been generally guided by Machiventa and the celestials in the direction they wish to pursue. Within that very broad parameter, you would as a team choose a topic you want to develop for the next month.

Kona Lisa: Okay, very good. I appreciate that. Jacques, you have a comment?

Jacques: Yes, to answer Daniel's question, today when we prepare an article, we limit to 500 words maximum.

Daniel: That is fine.

Kona: I think yes, that is something that I did not remember. Thank you for reminding me, because you guys are writing more than I have had time to because I have been trying to make sure that all of our websites are not being hacked.

Daniel: Oh Boy.

Kona Lisa: Unfortunately, there are bad actors out there. They have just loaded up the system with bots that rummage through the internet looking for open spaces, so I have had to shut a lot of our doors.

13. Using the Bridge Game to Explore a New Ways to Connect UB Communities

Kona: Salvadore is not here with us, and I do have a question for Machiventa. Salvadore will be with us at another time, but he has this idea of bridging Urantia readers. Salvadore is a bridge player and he would love to explore the whole idea of bringing people together over the game of bridge. Would Machiventa have a comment on that?

Daniel: This is Daniel, he wants to use the medium of bridge, the game bridge, to bring in discussion of the Urantia Book?

Kona: Yes, and other topics, yes.

Daniel: Let us say this is in the future of the work of the team. I would say right now that the best way to do that is for him to start his own bridge team in his community and tell people what it is all about.

I will make a comment that intellectual games like chess and bridge are usually played by intellectually oriented people. The Urantia Book is totally an intellectual endeavor to read. There is not much heart material in it. It is not like Harlequin novels or anything like that. It is something to pursue, but it would seem like a waste of time.

Kona: We just want to consider that and hear an opinion from Daniel and or Machiventa, and we will see what happens.

Daniel: Machiventa and the celestials are always reticent to offer opinions, either good or in opposition. They are very cautious about that, because mortals can interpret those things a thousand different ways and usually end up, because of our fear basis and ego basis in life, it does not turn out too well. I am speaking from my own personal experience of working with Machiventa about things like that. His personal comment is, well, that is a good idea, but let us talk about that later.

Kona Lisa: Very well then all right.

Thank you so much Daniel. We have been together for an hour now. Any last questions or comments for Daniel and or Machiventa while we are here together? Have you asked all the questions you need to about the content of the magazine and the format, my Team?

Daniel: You know, during the week, if you have a burning question that is just bugging you as an individual, you are welcome to email me or call me and I can enter into a TR relationship with Machiventa or one of the others with you and for you.

Kona: Alright, that sounds great. Bob, you have your hand up. You have a question?

Bob: I do. Is it a good idea to share personal experiences we have with spirit with others?

Daniel: This is Daniel speaking. You bet. There is nothing like that. I had an experience last week. It had to do with the hope continuum: hope, faith, belief, trust, and knowing. The only way that you can support knowing is by experience. Personal experience. When you say, I know this works because ..., I prayed about it and released it, and two months later there was the answer. And the person will say, well, how often does that happen? You say, it happens on a daily basis.

You know, I lost my watch in the house. I do not remember where I put it. I went about to take some stuff out of the car and it just struck me where it was. I went there and there it was. I attribute that to the Midwayers telling me, helping me out with my daily life. That is practical, that is believable. Sherille is a witness to that every day.

Kona: Bob, thank you for that great question. Yes, we definitely need to make room on the magazine for stories and how we interact on a regular basis. People need to know how our experiences are. I have met people and talked to people. They are like, I do not get it. It does not work for me that way. That does not mean they do not like to read. Even Salvadore is like, it does not work for me that way. He is very fascinated about the TR process, etc., because not everybody has experienced it yet. We want to light the fire and give them the opportunity and as much information to make it possible to have these connections. Alright, Daniel, go ahead.

14. Timeless Wisdom: Trusting the Process of Spiritual Connection

Daniel: Recently I have been reading, well, I have been guided to read a lot of historic documents and statements by great mystics. I say mystics are people of great belief who are in the know experientially. The relationship to the unknown, to consciousness, is as old as some of the oldest civilizations, and it is completely consistent. Buddha said, Lao Tzu said, Steve Taylor says, “forget your expectations; just hold yourself out and wait”.

Put in your request and your intentions and leave it up to Spirit to fulfill it. Do it like planting carrots. Once a little green thing shows up, you do not pull them out.

My Dear Friends, I thank you for your invitation. It has been a pleasure to be here. I appreciate the continued relationship I, Daniel, have with the Team, each of you, and the members who are not present today. This has given my life tremendous significance and gives me a confidence knowing that people such as you are guiding the future generations. I thank you from my deepest part of my heart and my consciousness.

Kona: Thank you, Daniel. Thank you so much for being with us today. We appreciate you and all that you have done to contribute to the evolution of our humanity.

Daniel: Thank you so much. I wish you well and have a good day. Bye-bye.

Group: Alright, you too. Bye-bye. Bye-bye, Sherille.

Daniel: Bye-bye. Okay, please.
